Dear Enabling Devices Community:

I hope you and your family are staying safe and well during this unprecedented health emergency.

Whether you're a parent, child, teacher or therapist, the future remains uncertain. Some have returned to classrooms, while others are learning and playing at home. Whatever the case may be, I can assure you that we at Enabling Devices are doing our best to make an extremely challenging situation just a little more manageable.

Over the past several months, we've re-dedicated ourselves the company's mission — creating exceptional products that help individuals with disabilities live full and meaningful lives.

Since our founding 40 years ago, we've looked to the experts — disabled children, teens, and adults, plus parents, teachers and therapists — to ensure that our products have met their standards. Now, we've gone a step further. Recently, we hired a dedicated consultant — Tina Weisman, an occupational therapist at United Cerebral Palsy Westchester — to test our products. Tina makes sure the things we make and adapt are high-quality, user-friendly and provide a range of multisensory and skill-building opportunities.

For example, something as basic as adding an extra jack to our switch-activated Bingo set teaches children to engage in parallel play and eventually in cooperative play.

We've also improved some of our most popular products. Our Pull Ball toy (#416) is more durable than ever since we added a braided steel wire to ensure that regardless of how many times children pull on the ball, it stays attached.

We've increased the flow of water from Our Big Water Toy (#9000) so it's more fun to play with, and we've improved the seal on our Tube Tracker (#5061) making it more responsive and sturdier.

You'll also find that all our switches are now more sensitive and more consistent than ever. Our Adjustable Touch Screen Head Stylus (#9092)—one of our most essential devices for people with limited mobility—has been redesigned to be more comfortable, lighter and adjustable.

The bottom line? If you're purchasing something from Enabling Devices, I want it to exceed your expectations. I want you to be 100% satisfied every time.

Have an idea? We want to hear from you and we're listening carefully. We want to know what you think of our products and how we can improve them Stay safe and be well. We'll get through this precarious time together.

Best wishes,

ETH AMON

Cosmic Liquid Tiles are in constant use at Brookville Center for Children's Services – Marcus Avenue School, says Alison Hofferber, PT, DPT, Clinical Coordinator of Physical and Occupational Therapies.

"They're a fun visual that we use in therapies and in the classroom for strengthening and endurance activities, including jumping, hopping and dance." In addition, says Alison, "The tiles provide colorful visual/perceptual sensory input." Fouryear-old Nadia, a student at Marcus Avenue preschool, enjoys the sensory input of cosmic tiles while working on strength, balance and coordination.

"Core stability, strength and endurance are essential building blocks for how preschoolers function," says Alison. "These elements carry over to provide the distal mobility necessary for a variety of fine motor and academic tasks, enhance breath support for speech, and improve peer interactions."

Teachers and therapists recognize that play is essential to child development and well-being. All nine of the best-selling adapted toys in this classroom kit teach important skills such as fine motor coordination and cause and effect while they also provide auditory, visual, and tactile sensory experiences. A must-have for every classroom of students with special needs. Weight: 26 lbs. Kit includes:

🛞 spotlight on product design

Enabling Devices' Chief Product Designer Bill Pedersen is a man who loves his job. "I've always been handy and used to drive and fix race-cars," says Bill. "I like figuring out how to make things work."

Since coming to Enabling Devices four years ago, Bill has created new products and redesigned existing products to make them easier to build and use. "Recently, we had a special request to create a foot switch for one child," Bill recalls. "It took some time, but eventually, we did it. After the child tried it out, we got an email back from the woman who requested it and she said it worked perfectly. Things like that remind me why we do what we do."

practitioner spotlight

Working in the disability community can sometimes run in families. Tina Weisman, Enabling Devices' consulting occupational therapist, passed down her love of helping people to her daughter, Jessica Landsberg.

"I grew up in a household where my mother was always seeing private clients," recalls Jessica, who is currently a speech-language pathologist entering her clinical fellowship year. The more she learned about her mother's work with children with disabilities, the more she knew she wanted to make a career of helping those with special needs. "My mom's been an incredible role model," she says.

Tina W. & Jessica L.

Recently, Tina and Jessica visited the company's headquarters—Tina to review products for telehealth and Jessica to see some of the toys and devices in action. They also got to see how we manufacture our products. While Tina has long been a resource and friend of Enabling Devices, having worked with company founder Steven Kanor, her expertise is especially valuable in the age of COVID-19. "Virtual learning is not the optimal way for many kids with disabilities to learn," she explains. Some of Tina's favorites for telehealth are the Desktop Busy Box (#3009) and the Compact Activity Center (#2300). Both work well in a virtual session, she says.

🛞 special education school spotlight

Elizabeth Seton Children's School in Yonkers, N.Y., educates children with complex medical needs from birth to age 21 who reside at Elizabeth Seton Children's Center. Principal Sharon Herl says education at the school is "all about trying to help students to be as independent as possible. The children use toys and technological products from Enabling Devices throughout the day, every day."

Erica Mason, a special educator at the school says Enabling Devices' iPad Pro Mounting System is especially helpful to students who use iPads as communication devices. "This hands-free mounting system allows our students' iPads to travel with them, enabling them to be more independent with their communication needs. The mounting system attaches to their lap trays and makes it easy for our students to express themselves when they are on the move."

Nicholas L., a 22-year-old student at Bergen Community College in Paramus, N.J., isn't content to sit back and wait for others to fight city hall. "He's an advocate for people with disabilities and rare diseases," says his mother Annette. When he's not studying or championing disability rights, Nick can be found bowling, surfing the web or taking photographs.

Recently, he needed a wheelchair mounting solution for his 35 millimeter camera, so he turned to Enabling Devices. "We just showed up at the company's offices without an appointment," says Annette. "They took us in right away!" The company's tech specialist Vinny Livoti installed a mounting device that positions Nick's camera at eye level. Now, Nick can use his remote control to snap pictures for his photography course!

🛞 non-profit organization spotlight

The Center for Discovery in Harris, New York, is an internationally recognized, nonprofit organization for students and adults with complex developmental disabilities and medical frailties. Offering residential, medical, clinical, and special education programs to over 1,200 individuals annually, The Center nurtures the strengths and talents of everyone they serve. "From recreation to farming to the classroom, we integrate adapted devices so everyone can participate," says Jason Kean, Director of Innovation for TCFD.

"Certain products, like Enabling Devices' switch-adapted scissors, (#9080, page 86) have been program staples for years. Clients use them to create mosaics, collages, and-most recently-a whimsical, faux stained-glass window in TCFD's production of 'Beauty and The Beast,'" Kean says. "When innovative programming is supported by assistive technology, people can access life-changing experiences."

Cody G.

Like most boys his age, Cody, a sixth-grade student at English Valleys Middle School in North English, Iowa, enjoys being surrounded by his peers, spending time outdoors, making music and playing with his labradoodle Lucy.

Products from Enabling Devices make it possible for Cody to access many of his favorite activities. Cody enjoys playing with toys such as Enabling Devices' Pull Ball, switch-adapted helicopter and Busy Box. He expresses his creativity with his Band Jam and Swirl Art kit and he can play board games with friends and family using the High Roller, an adapted dice roller. Enabling Devices' toys also allow Cody to engage in independent play, says his mom Laura. "He can play by himself and he's happy and content."

special education school spotlight

At the John G. Leach School in New Castle, Delaware, students ages 3 to 21, with physical, cognitive and medical impairments, use Enabling Devices' products to "maximize their independence and participation in all school activities," says occupational therapist Kristin Chickadel. "One product that we have in every classroom is the pouring cups. We use them for vocational training, baking, art and games..."

Kristin's colleague, OT Tom Winkler, works with students who use the pouring cups for an annual project. "They assemble chocolate chip cookie ingredients which they layer in mason jars," says Tom. "Some students can hold the cups, but for others, we utilize switches." After the mason jars are full, "we tie a bow around the jar, attach baking instructions and sell them as holiday gifts."

Weighted Handwriting Glove

Our super-versatile weighted glove provides proprioceptive input and compression that helps students perform a variety of fine motor and self-help activities. Made of soft cotton spandex with a weighted pouch that rests on the back of the hand, the glove can also be worn during hand strengthening exercises. The glove's fingerless design allows for maximum finger flexibility and wrist mobility. Reversible and hand washable. For sizing, measure width at knuckles. Small: 21/2"; Medium: 3"; Large: 31/2". assistive living spotlight

After viewing a video about sensory rooms on Enabling Devices' website, Skip Wiggins, Director of Facilities at Rolling Green Village Retirement Community in Greenville, South Carolina, knew it would benefit residents in the community's Evergreen Place memory care program. So he called us.

"I took pictures and dimensions and they sent suggestions about layout and what to buy," he recalls. "The sensory room creates a soothing environment that gets residents engaged, helps them to relate to others, and provides sensory stimulation," says Skip. One product that's especially popular with residents is the room's Sensory LED Bubble Tubes (#3392). "They love watching the tube's plastic fish swimming around and seeing the bubbles change colors."

Our Story

Since 1978, Enabling Devices has been creating and adapting toys, tools, devices and assistive technology for children, teens and adults with a variety of disabilities. From the beginning, the company's primary mission has been meeting the needs of its customers and developing products that enrich their lives. Personalized customer service is emblematic of the company's people-centered approach. As always, we welcome customers' calls and comments, and whenever possible, are happy to provide personalized solutions. With the right tools, people with disabilities are doing great things and finding great joy in their lives. Our mission is to increase their joy as much as possible.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO READ BEFORE CALLING Checking the batteries to make sure that they are fresh and properly installed can prevent 95% of all returns. We recommend alkaline batteries be used. Any of our products that have been switch-adapted will only work with "mono" adapters and will not work with "stereo" adapters. If you are having trouble with a product, please refer to the troubleshooting tips in your user's guide.

RETURN AUTHORIZATION

All items MUST have a Return Authorization Number before being sent back. You can obtain an RA# by calling us at 800-832-8697 X6. If possible, please have your invoice number or customer number available, this will help to expedite the return process. To ensure efficient delivery, we suggest you send your return via a trackable method.

refunds/credits

You are entitled to a refund/company credit on most items (except where noted) within 30 days of delivery. Items being returned must be in new condition and unmarked. Any item that has been written on with permanent marker or has stickers/labels on it cannot be returned for a refund, a credit or an exchange. All original packaging, accessories and manuals must be included. Custom/Special orders or final sale items cannot be returned. Items that are non-returnable (these items are noted) can still be repaired. Items being returned in bulk (qty 10 or more) have a 20% re-stocking fee.

DAMAGED/DEFECTIVE

Please notify us within 10 days of receipt of any discrepancies, items damaged in shipping and/or faulty items. Free Technical Support is available by phone 800-832-8697 or email: customer_support@enablingdevices.com. We may be able to trouble-shoot the problem and avoid having the item returned.

PLEASE NOTE: There is a $30 (domestic) and a $50 (international) diagnostic fee for each returned item found to be in good working order. Also, customers are responsible for return shipping costs if items are found to be in good working order, were ordered by the customer incorrectly, or if the item is not suitable. All items returned for credit/refund must be shipped to us unmarked and in original packaging.

warranties

For U.S. and Canada purchases, there is a one year warranty on communicators and switches. For all other products there is a 90 day warranty for manufacturing defects unless noted on our website. Items under warranty will be repaired free of charge. There will be a charge for repair and return shipping and handling on all items out of warranty. For international customers, please visit our website www.enablingdevices.com for warranty information. If you have any questions regarding returns, repairs, and warranty information or if you would like a repair fee quote please contact us at 800-832-8697 X6 or e-mail returns@enablingdevices.com. Please note that these time frames and repair fees are as stated and cannot be changed. Repairs, alterations or modifications done by someone other than Enabling Devices will automatically void our warranty.

substitutions

Due to ever changing demands, certain toys may be discontinued by their manufacturer. If a substitution of a similar toy must be made, it will be of equal value. Our products are continually being improved and so the appearance of the product in the photo may slightly differ from what you receive. Please be assured that you will always receive the latest version.
